Steady Decline in Lumber Production Since 1907— Great Building Boom Calls for More.

Although Virginia's production still ranks between tenth and twelfth among all the states, the high point of production in the Old Dominion was reached in 1909, and annual lumber outputs of the state. In general, the same is true of North and South Carolina, the other states of the North Carolina pine region. The southern belt, although still leading the eight districts of the country in lumber production, will soon be behind the Pacific coast and Rocky Mountain states, to which the drift of lumber activity has already begun.

This survey, the results of which have been published in a bulletin of the Department of Agriculture, shows the following facts:

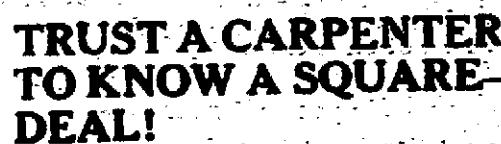

The highest point in the lumber production of the country was reached in 1907; since that year, there has been a steady decline, about two per cent. per year, which has not yet ceased, and is not likely to. The total decline from 1907 to 1920 was 20 per cent.

ber has increased to such an extent that the average American now is forced to pay three times as much for lumber as he did in 1890, for an amount of lumber one-sixth less than he got in that year. Even in terms of other commodities, the cost of the per capita consumption in 1920 was more than that of a larger per capita consumption thirty years before.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little water is all that is required. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub the Mulsified coconut oil in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses off easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to manage. Besides, it loosens and takes off every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified—adv.

The Young Men's Business Club has taken up the question of aiding Mrs. B. B. Temple complete the Confederate memorial project which was started nearly fifty years ago here by her husband who placed in a local bank the nucleus of what was to be a fund to defray the costs of a monument for the women.

Memorial monument. It was Dr. Temple's belief that the work of the Confederate women had not been properly recognized and it was to the credit of Mrs. Temple that she started the fund which from time to time small sums were added.

Mrs. Temple recently decided to further the project and she has been successful in this and is understood to have received additional subscriptions which bring the total amount in hand to about a thousand dollars. The Rev. J. B. Riney, of Clinton, Mo., has taken up the matter now and it has been referred to a committee for further consideration, particularly as to how an appropriate building can be erected as a memorial to the women who made this worthy enterprise a success. An early report is anticipated that the project now is that the club will make possible the establishment of the memorial grounds, a fitting monument to the women of the Confederacy who suffered alike with their men for the Final preparations are being made for the Cotton Pageant which will be staged next Saturday evening at five o'clock at Ballou Park, when the Schoolfield schoolchildren will present a colorful spectacle to the public. In years past the May Day fête was a very popular one, and the pageant was staged at an angle at the hour of the performance as not to give the best results. The pageant will be completely restaged one day, during the coming week, probably during the morning when the light is at its best.

given by the Schoenfeld Company and welfare department has been an extremely picturesque event and this year's "Colton Pageant" will be no exception to the precedent. Between five and six hundred trained and costumed children will take part in various events which will make up the program. The pageant has been in course of rehearsal and practice for several weeks and the costumes needed have been made by the teachers. The Schoenfeld Company will be in attendance to afford music within the grassy arena where the spectacle will be staged.

One week from Saturday the smaller children will give their annual pageant in West View. And just beyond the handsome new Schoenfeld public school.

For the past several days a corps of moving picture operators and directors have been here from Chicago to link pictures of the march, showing the various mechanical stages through which the raw material passes until it has reached the finished cloth for which Dan River is widely known. The Colton Pageant is also to be fully filmed but this time at the new Grand opera house of the spectacle on Saturday since the sun would be at such

On Saturday the Schoenfeld Company band, under the direction of Professor Vebetti, will give a half hour recital, beginning at half past four o'clock and continuing until the beginning of the pageant. This concert has been in course of preparation also for some time and the program will be well worth hearing.

The pageant will be given in the Northeast corner of the park or where last year's pageant was given. This is considered the best location for the park at this point forms a natural amphitheatre and affords a larger opportunity for the spectators than the flat greensward bounded by Park avenue and West Main street where the earlier performances were given.

sub of massed soldiers, and the missionaries throughout the past year, the organized Baptist women of the contributed approximately $200,000 in cash to missions. The work in local churches according to the annual report of Miss Kathleen M. corresponding secretary of the Baptist Women's Union, included the thirty-fifth anniversary of that body here today.

In addition to these gifts the women in their organized capacity helped in the construction of hospitals, in China and Africa, and $39,000 in clothing to suffering Baptist life in the United States.

The number of local Women's Union organizations affiliated with the convention grew during the year to approximately 1,000. A total of 1,000,000 of these organizations were held in the in of home and foreign missionaries and other benevolent programs.

The Community Welfare Association and the United States Veterans Bureau joined hands today in trying to find the man in which centres about a man who arrived in Danville yesterday and who gave the name of "C. M. Barton" and who is apparently suffering from amnesia. As chronicled yesterday Barton approached Police Officer Harry B. Smith in a police station and asked to be taken in charge, asserting that his memory had failed him and that he could not account for his arrival here.

The police took Barton in charge and referred the case to the Community Welfare Association, the attaches of which organization have striven in every way to find out where he belongs and to get in touch with some of his people. Last night Barton was taken to the hospital to be examined to see if he is of sane mind.

One theory is that Barton was a patient in some government hospital, being treated for some mental ailment, and that he has developed from wartime experiences such as shell shock and to have effected his escape. In one statement he said that his wife, Mrs. Bettie Barton, lives in Baltimore.

Mr. Tucker planned to get in touch with the district headquarters at Roanoke this afternoon to see if any thing could be learned there. It is believed that within the next twenty-four hours, through the activities of the Community Welfare Association, the Veterans' Bureau and the offer of the press to broadcast a news story of the man's plight, that some definite information will have been learned.

While there is no reason for undue excitement about rabies the following information, given at the city health office is of value.

of a dog or other animal which has the disease. It is just as prevalent at one time of the year as another. Popular impressions to the contrary notwithstanding, the disease is not so easily contracted of being mad do not kill it. Evidence can be gained by watching the dog while safely confined. If the dog is killed send the head at once to the Health Department with a label "Canine rabies." The specimen must be analyzed by physician with carbolic acid or iodine. Cauterization alone is not sufficient. Use the astute treatment as well. When used promptly it prevents infection in nearly every case. The disease is not so easily contracted and can easily be given by any physician.

Dogs can be vaccinated against rabies at small cost and thus be made immune for at least a year.

Annual Assembly Of Presbyterians Dr. Hays Preaches

(By The Associated Press.)
 INDIANAPOLIS, May 17.—Dr. Calvin C. Hays of Johnston, Pa., retiring Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., opened the 135th annual Presbyterian General Assembly here this forenoon by preaching the following Moderatorial sermon, which is designed to sound the keynote for the sessions of the assembly to continue through May 24. Moderator Hays' text was Isaiah 52:1. "Put on thy strength, O Zion," and he gave his sermon the title "The Appeal of God to a Faltering Church."

Dr. Hays covered a wide range of subjects, a summary of which, together with some of his most striking utterances, follows:

On Heresy—No appeal to force, no recourse to law, no ecclesiastical bull will drive out heresy where heresy appears.

On Ministers—We should be clean who bear the vessels of the Lord.

On Prohibition—Hell has enlarged itself in the effort to recover her lost strength.

On Missions—Our chief business as Christian men and women is to build up the Kingdom of Christ and get the gospel to those who do not have it.

On Successes—We have succeeded so well that we are bound to push our work or suffer humiliation and disgrace.

On Finance—One difficulty about our finances is that we have so much dead timber on our rolls, and too many deadheads.

On the Church—It is not an ark for the mere saving of an elect few. Nor is it a ferry boat, all obligations settled when there fare is paid. It is not an insurance company organized to insure against loss in the world to come. The Church exists for work as well as worship, for service as well as sociability, for this world rather than the next.

On Spirituality—We have lost the power to work miracles, but heaven forbid that we should lose the power to supply spiritual need.

On Prayer—Prayer is taking hold of the unseen power of God.

On the Gospel—God pity us if we are no longer delivering the message of salvation.

On Prayer—Prayer is taking hold of God's willingness. The greatest of unearned power is prayer.

On Presbyterianism—Our first Moderator was a signer of the Declaration of Independence, and we have been asserting our prerogatives ever since. Cannot be said that we ever have been afraid to speak our minds.

On Foreigners—Our fathers came to this country for the same reason that foreigners are coming today, in search of a better chance.

On the Future—The Church is not dead or dying. She is the liveliest institution the world knows anything about. The world's criticism and the world's need are the Church's challenge.

Elaborating the theme of heresy Dr. Hays said in part: "The charge that rationalism and unbelief are widespread among us, and are even creeping into many of our pulpits, is a charge that is not to be sustained. Those of us who have been much over the Church in the last year have found no evidence of this whatever, but only deepest regret everywhere, that there is not a better chance."

The real trouble is we have not been stressing the cardinal truths of our religion with the emphasis they merit. We have had so many other things to think about, and so many special days to observe, little wonder some are saying we have departed from the faith. And now shall we most accusations such as this, which are more or less a reflection on us all? By going forth to fight our accusers, or by having a quarrel among ourselves in the matter? Not at all. The remedy is not controversy. Like Nehemiah, we are doing a great work and cannot come down."

"Pastors who are on their jobs have HOWARD CLARKE.

HAVE YOU PAINS?

This Advice Is For You If Suffering From Rheumatism.

Chester town, Md.—"I suffered four months with a severe case of arthritis. The doctors continued to do me no good. My knee and left foot were swollen twice their natural size and pained me very severely. I was unable to walk, and was compelled to use crutches after lying in bed three weeks. Acting upon my mother's advice, I tried Dr. Pierce's Auric Tablets. From the first dose or so I started improving and am now able to work as before."—Howard Clarke.

Step into any drug store and ask for a package of Auric, which is many times more potent than lithia. A short trial will convince you. Send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package, or write for free medical advice.—adv.

What's Wrong With Weather? Don't Let That Worry You

(BY HARRY B. HUNT)

(Special to The Sue.)

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Remarkable weather, this spring, isn't it? Very unusual! Like to know what's causing it? Well—
 "The temperature of the earth depends upon the heat we receive from the sun," says Dr. Charles Greeley Abbot, assistant secretary of the Smithsonian Institution and director of the Astrophysical Observatory.
 "For several years the sun's heat had not fluctuated much, until November, 1921, when the monthly values began to decrease. By October, 1923, the values reached a level three per cent. lower than before the decrease commenced. Since then they have continued on this low level. Since the earth's temperature, rainfall and other phenomena depend upon the sun's heat, one would expect that so marked a change would be apt to be reflected in the weather conditions."

THAT FREAK WEATHER
 "How about it?" I asked Dr. Charles F. Marvin, chief of the United States Weather Bureau, citing Dr. Abbot's observations. "Is the sun cooling off? Is that responsible for this freak weather?"

Marvin nodded and came back with a question of his own: "Is the weather due to the apparent variation in solar radiation, or is the seeming variation in solar radiation due to the weather?"

"You tell me," said the weather man, I continued.

"Well," Marvin continued, drawing from his desk a bunch of intricate graphs and charts, "I am not yet ready to accept the theory of variation in solar radiation as a basis for weather forecasting. Measuring the sun's heat is a very difficult task. Many atmospheric conditions, clouds, dust, etc., tend to disturb the accuracy of the measurements. But look at these charts—running back over many years. They indicate that as the methods for measuring solar radiation have improved, and as better equipment and better stations for observation have been obtained, the apparent variability of the sun's heat has diminished."

"That might indicate that the variation recorded was not due to a change in the heat of the sun itself, but to errors in measurement and to the influences of atmospheric conditions affecting the intensity of the rays as they reach the earth's surface."

EFFECT OF ERUPTION
 "Following the eruption of Katami in the Aleutian Islands a few years ago, the variation in apparent solar radiation was so great that readings made were discontinued. Volcanic dust mounted high into the air—far above the level to which any moisture ascends. Observations taken by the Smithsonian Institution in the presence of the eruption of the volcano even there—half way round the earth. This volcanic dust sometimes remains in the upper atmosphere for two or three years, and, of course, enough to do and have no time to waste in the matter of an unsympathetic world that the church is sound. And as for the church here, the true antidote for error is the truth. Nothing will heal our woes like grace, and the only way to light to deliver us from darkness, no appeal to force, to recourse to law, no ecclesiastical bull, will drive out heresy where heresy appears. We have the more excellent way depicted in the 13th chapter of First Corinthians. What is needed is the spirit of Christ and a return to gospel preaching. If indeed we have departed from it; every man to his task: the laying of new emphasis upon the emphasis upon the things most surely believed among us, in every pulpit and class room of the church."

 Drives Boy, 10, to Die

GREENVILLE, Pa., May 17.—Ten-year-old Raymond Baker lies at his home here today a suicide because his schoolmates teased him. The boy was reprimanded by his father recently for not going to school and gave as his reason that he was the victim of practical jokes among his fellows. The father told him that he was not serious and urged him to go back to his classes. Yesterday the lad went to a bedroom and shot himself.

is an element in affecting the passage of the sun's rays.

"Maybe there is a real and actual variation in the heat of the sun. Maybe that is influencing the weather. I'm open minded. But I am certain that a good part of the apparent variation is atmospheric and earthly; in other words, while a change in solar radiation may be affecting the weather, I'm quite sure the weather contributes to the seeming change in solar radiation."

"Well," we suggested, "how about sunspots? Maybe they're to blame for the weather. Maybe they'll give us another year like 1916, when there were frosts all summer."

"Ah-h-h," said Marvin, apparently scenting another unpopular weather bugaboo. "Sunspots?"

"Well, in 1916—which is known as a year without a summer—we were in a period of maximum sunspots. The old sun was pretty well spotted that year. Therefore, many have said, the cold summer."

"This year we are in a period of sunspot minimum. If we say the sunspot minimum in 1916 caused the cold of that year, and now say this

Good Morning Judge!

This morning's docket in the Police court was a brief one, only three cases being disposed of.

Joe Giles, arrested while intoxicated with a half a bottle of cod liver oil, learned that he must be more conservative with the fluid lest he face Mapp act violations. Giles was fined $10 and costs for having the cod liver oil in his possession or in other words transporting ardent spirits. Counsel for Giles argued that it would be unfair to fine his client because of the fact that it was a medicine and not intoxicating liquor which he had, while on the other hand the court held that Giles was using the cod liver oil which contained 4 per cent alcohol as a beverage, he having admitted drinking it and becoming intoxicated.

A jail sentence of thirty days and a fine of $5.00 and costs was the penalty imposed on William Petty, colored, on a charge of the larceny of $17 from V. O. Jordan.

James Miles, colored, was fined $21 on costs for speeding and an additional $5.00 and costs for operating the machine without a chauffeur's license.

Clipped Tresses Husband Leaves

(Special to The Sue.)
 CHICAGO, May 17.—Judge Morgan in the court of domestic relations, will decide tomorrow whether Raymond O'Malley, a street car conductor, shall return to his wife and child. O'Malley deserted his family because, he said, he came home one night and found that his wife had bobbed her luxuriant tresses. He had warned her that if she ever did join the ranks of short haired women he would leave home. He made good his threat. Mrs. O'Malley took her case to court, but the husband told Judge Morgan that he would not return home unless his wife and child until Mrs. O'Malley's hair had grown down to her waist line. Mrs. O'Malley complained that it might take years for her hair to grow out again, and in the meantime, she would have no support. Judge Morgan will decide tomorrow what can be done in the case.

Maxwell Immune For Extradition On Letter Charge

Offenses Named in Indictment Not Among Those Provided for in Treaty With Britain.

NEW YORK, May 17.—Unless George Maxwell, wealthy music publisher indicted as the author of the venomous letters attacking Mrs. Allan A. Ryan, returns to this country of his own accord, the case cannot be brought to trial as long as he remains in England.

Under the extradition treaty with England, it was learned yesterday, Maxwell cannot be extradited. Third degree forgery and the misdemeanor charged against him do not come under the common law.

Coincidentally with this information came the knowledge here that Maxwell was in London at the time the indictment against him was found.

It was recalled yesterday that when Maxwell was called down to the District Attorney's office four years ago after Albert R. Gallatin, broker, of No. 100 Broadway, had received a series of vile letters about Mrs. Gallatin and Maxwell, he was very calm.

Ostensibly innocent of connection with the letters written to Mr. Gallatin, before he was questioned he was shown the letters.

He was as calm as Mr. Gallatin, with atrocious offenses. Maxwell coolly looked over one letter after another without a change of expression. When he had read them all, he sat back in his chair and said:

"If there are any questions you would like to ask me I would be glad to answer."

In view of the charges against him, it is felt in the District Attorney's office that if he never had seen the letters before and know nothing of their contents, he would not have taken the matter so much as a matter of fact.

The investigation into the "poison pen" letters has not ended with Maxwell's indictment. It was hinted yesterday the surface of the whole affair has not been more than ruffled, and sensational developments may be expected in the next few days.

District Attorney Banton will announce today, after a study of the minutes of the Grand Jury, whether he will ask Nathan Burkan, Tammany lawyer who is counsel for Maxwell, to produce his client at once, as he has promised to do if necessary.

The Board of Directors of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, of which Maxwell is President, will meet today and adopt a resolution expressing confidence in Maxwell's innocence.

A tribute to Assistant District Attorney Kilroe was paid by Mr. Banton when he said his confidence in a conviction rested on the fact that he never had known of a case prepared by Kilroe which fell through for lack of evidence.

Railroad Heads Approve Merger Of Trunk Lines

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Two eastern railroad presidents—A. P. Smith, of the New York Central, and Samuel Rea, of the Pennsylvania System—gave the Interstate Commerce commission today their qualified approval of its proposals for railroad consolidation in eastern trunk-line territory. Mr. Rea, however, suggested that if it was deemed necessary for existing transportation lines to be put into a score or more of merged systems, permissive methods be used by the government, that time be given to let the involved financial problems work out naturally, and that restrictive federal and state legislation against merger tendencies be withdrawn.

Insofar as the commission plans to leave the Pennsylvania and New York Central systems intact in its consolidation rearrangements, both railroad presidents expressed satisfaction. Mr. Rea, however, declared that the Norfolk & Western, partially owned now by the Pennsylvania, should be definitely grouped with his system, while Mr. Smith suggested that the Central Railroad of New York and parts of the Philadelphia and Reading systems should be consolidated with the New York Central.

During his testimony, Mr. Rea declared that what he had "hoped for" at the time of the passage of the transportation act was an act broad enough to eliminate restrictive federal and state laws, and provided the existing railroads had the necessary earnings, to gradually, by absorption or by purchase of their physical properties, or of their operating contracts, within the existing systems the numerous subsidiary corporations now allied to the existing large systems. He also had hoped, he added, that steps would be taken to withdraw the separate work of accounting, reporting, financing and dealing with state and federal bodies as well as with their own respective owners.

Mr. Rea said the 22 largest railroad corporations of the country received 84 per cent of all the revenues in class one railroads during 1922 and operated directly, indirectly or through connections a very large proportion of the railroad mileage.

Under permissive legislation, and over a long term of years these companies might by normal growth absorb a large portion of the balance of rail mileage, he said, and the difficulty of financing would be less than if the government ordered consolidation. The Pennsylvania System itself, he added, has been built up from 600 transportation companies to an aggregation of 70 transportation corporations.

Mr. Rea had not completed his discussion when the day's session adjourned.

CONFERENCE IS VERY PLEASING TO FULWILER

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 16.—State Prohibition Director R. A. Fulwiler of Virginia is much encouraged over a meeting held in Charlottesville a few days ago with Attorney General Saunders, federal, state and county officials, heads of civic organizations, ministers and others interested in enforcement for the purpose of preparing plans for a concerted effort for suppression of liquor law violation, according to a report he has made to Prohibition Commissioner Haynes.

Mr. Fulwiler has advised Commissioner Haynes that this is only the first of a series of such conferences which he had arranged in an effort to secure a greater measure of cooperation from the local enforcement officials and, by discussing the various problems which confront them, to bring about a plan whereby violations may be reduced to a minimum.

Wears Smiles Though Back Is Broke and He'll Never Walk

By ALEXANDER HERMAN (Special to The Bee.)

READING, Pa., May 17.—They call him "Sunshine Joe." Though there isn't much sunshine in his life. For little Joseph Parsenick, 7-year-old orphan, probably will never walk again.

The fourth, fifth and sixth vertebrae of his spine were broken when a heavy truck ran him down as he was playing in the street near his home. That happened last January. He's been at the Homeopathic Hospital ever since, and must remain for a long time to come.

Physicians and nurses hold out little hope for his recovery.

But Joe doesn't seem to mind—he just keeps on smiling.

"When I was a regular kid, just like the others fellows," he says philosophically, "I never thought much about smiling and laughing."

"When I did, it was only because something struck me funny, or I felt happy."

"But now I smile, because I got to. There's no use crying over spilt milk, is there? But a fellow can smile about it, can't he? Just to make things easier, huh?"

That's just what he does all day long. It makes little difference whether his pain is more severe than usual—Joe keeps smiling.

"His remarkable fortitude," say his nurses, "is radiating an optimism that puts a smile into all pain."

"Some of the older patients, grum— and discouraged, can't help but catch the spirit of the boy."

Sometimes Joe's smile broadens out. He thinks he can wiggle his wasted legs.

"Some day I'll be able to use 'em again," he says confidently. "And then I'll grow up to be just what I always wanted to be—a cop!"

"And when I walk my beat, I'll pinch every driver that tries to run his truck on any street where there are kids playing."

"You wait and see!"

SUNSHINE JOE IN THE WHEEL CHAIR WHERE HE WILL HAVE TO SPEND THE REST OF HIS LIFE.

Joe's eyes darkened, but only for an instant. Then his smile came back.

ground station, and with an ingenious rotating endless platform method to enable machines to "take off" and land. It is claimed that it is possible for the fastest machines to land with as much safety on the deck of an aeroplane carrier as on an aerodrome field.

Decks are Cleared.

The decks of the carriers being constructed in Britain are entirely free of all obstructions, the funnels being set on the starboard side, and all boats, gear and other gadgets are assembled on the forward portion of the ship, well away from the landing deck.

The aeroplanes themselves are accompanied on the second deck and are raised to the flying-off deck by means of huge lifts.

Cranes, fitted on both sides of the ship, enable seaplanes which are forced to alight on the sea to be hauled aboard the mother-ship, and searchlights and a landing light tower enable aeroplanes to land in darkness.

The third deck down is fitted up with huge workshops, with spares and spare parts—everything from a propeller to a complete engine being carried.

Once at sea these super-ships, with their flying children, need not touch land, except for repairs or refueling.

Britain has laid down two of these ships, which are claimed to be superior to those of any other power. These not only afford landing facilities, but are stated to be as well equipped for the carrying out of repairs as any

Already some vessels have been converted into aircraft carriers by America, Britain and Japan, and others, incorporating the results of such research, are known to be being secretly constructed by all three countries.

Scoop's Column
DRAKES BRANCH, May 17.—
(Grapevine-Wireless)—While Brother
Ed. Oakes was supervising the job of putting up fly-screens at his shack this morning, he was teased back in a split-bottom chair reading the "Whiz Bang." Turning over a leaf, and taking a fresh chew of Star, he says to us boys, "listen to this."
"In her wildest flights of imagination, the old maid could possibly realize the vast importance of such things as goose
grape, tooth-powder, soothing syrups, camomile tea, magnesia, 'dumplings,' castor oil, Turkey rhubarb, brimstone and treacle, and camphor may be to the weary and overworked wives and mothers. The old maid is in no danger of being left a widow. The whole street will not be given the extreme satisfaction of passing remarks on the length of her veil, the depth and cost of her mourning, or the fact that she is not wearing any. Neighbors need not watch her every time she crosses a man's pathway, and assure each other—of course, in the strictest confidence, my dear—that she is looking out for husband No. 2 or No. 3, as the case may be. The thousand and one petty cares and irritations of housekeeping, an old maid will not be bothered with.
If there is nobody to praise her, well,
there is certainly nobody to blame her,
and that fact alone is quite a consideration."
Whereupon Brother Posey observed:
"I never saw an old maid yet who didn't have to help rear somebody else's children; so she usually has no cinch after all."

BANDITS WITH INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Yesterday's news columns told us on one page that the Chinese brigands who recently raided the Shanghai express and carried travellers into the mountains for ransom had decided to act swiftly unless the money was paid, and on another that China leads the world in the number of Bibles purchased during the past year. It is a great country for comparison and contrast more especially at the present time when western civilization is encroaching on its long sustained lethargy.

Banditry has long been a national evil in China and it has not been confined to land operations. History still rears of the hideous machinations of the pirates who infested the China sea and in their Junks set upon many a helpless merchantman. The brigands who are holding foreign captives, among them Americans, are for the most part soldiers of the Chinese army who failing to receive pay deserted, formed lawless groups and decided to eke out a precarious living as marauders. They are not as savage and lustful as one might imagine but evidently possess well defined business acumen as is witnessed by the fact that the leader, Wang, a few days ago sought to promote the chances of collecting the ransom money by leaving one of the prisoners a day's leave of absence so that he might go down to the nearest governmental seat to try and arrange for the ransom money. The bandit leader loomed the captive on leave of absence a mule on which to make the trip.

The train raid and the subsequent seizure of the passengers has sharply emphasized the importance of the Chinese government and its lack of control over some of the provinces. The bandits refuse to treat with the responsible government, attaches no faith in the promised payment of the ransom money since they realize that it would overtax the government treasury. They demand the endorsement of the foreign diplomats and they are looking to the delegated envoys of Europe and America to produce the cash. The situation is an extraordinary one, lawless bands ignoring their own government seeking to treat with foreign powers and satisfied that their own government cannot offer any serious obstacle. While there is necessarily a sinister brooding over what may happen unless the ransom money is forthcoming there are hopeful indications that the bandits have such an eye to business that they will not mete out vengeance by killing their prisoners.

German Slayers In Unique Lair

BERLIN, May 16.—No beast in the German zoo with the instinct born of being hunted through the ages ever built a more ingenious lair than the Papke Brothers, murderers, who have lived for weeks in their midst and shamed them in their captivity. There has always been a giant clock on top of one of the columns at the entrance to the zoo, but it was removed a couple of months ago, and the Papkes made the vacancy their home, with the opening, their front door, reached by climbing the fence. They carried in necessities for household comfort, including cooking utensils and an alcohol stove, and even tapped wires at a gas electric light. The thousands passing daily unconsciously looked up at the clock, but the Papkes left no tracks.

His Motorcycle Scoops Up a Cop

NEW YORK, May 16.—Policeman Leonard Smith nearly became a casualty while directing traffic yesterday in Hillside avenue, Jamaica. He was lifted suddenly and hurled through the air.

When he opened his eyes he was in a "bathub" sidecar of a motorcycle, and having run a motorcycle he knew how to reach over and stop it. The driver said he was Tony Goldsmith, New Hyde Park, and pushed Smith with both feet from the policeman's seat. He smiled. He is not, so the next scene is omitted.

On the very day that the new sign, "Tom and Bob Parker," went up over the door of the insurance office at Wichita Falls, the junker partner announced:

"Well, dad, the firm gets busy at once. I'm off to Dallas tonight."

"What for?" Tom was dismayed by such a prompt manifestation of energy.

"I'll have to tell you," Barbara perched herself upon her father's desk and began speaking with a note of excitement in her voice. "I heard Henry Nelson was in town, go to the bank this morning and see him. He's such a big man in the oil business. I thought he might help me. He was there, but in conference with his father and another man. There were several people waiting, so I sat down. When the man they were talking to came out, it was Pete, that drifter who put down the first well for us. He was glad to see me, and we had quite a talk, but I noticed the agency. He said he was running a rig over near 'Burk,' and had a fishing job on his hands. With all the excitement and everybody running double 'lowers' and trying to beat the other fellow down to the sand, it struck me as queer that a contract driller like Pete would be here in Wichita Falls. I thought he ought to be out on the lease fishing for a hot bit. I told him I'd be had a showing of oil and was trying to borrow money to buy it or to get the Nelsons to buy it and carry him on an interest. Well, that wretched man turned all colors when I accused him, and tried to get a quarrel started. If I can get the lease from Kante Houghland, so, I'm leaving on the night train."

The publicity Calvin Gray received from his exploit at Ranger could be nothing except agreeable to one of his temperament. Carefully he basked in his notoriety, meanwhile continuing assiduously to cultivate the successful man of Dallas.

He was relieved one day to receive a telegram from Gus Briskow asking him to meet Ma and Alice at the evening train and "get them a hotel." He managed to secure a good suite at the Ajax, and it was with gleaming pleasure anticipation that he drove to the station.

Dimmy greeted him, however, at first sight of the new arrivals. His behavior resembled nothing so much as that of a broken out, ranting actor. "You make me sick, Ma! I'll take all Pa can afford, and then some, so make us look like other people."

Gray determined that the girl should help it, so he went directly to the head waiters of the first floor, and asked her to assume the role of companion where circumstances compelled him to relinquish it. Although the woman agreed to it, he thought he found before long that his trust in her had been misplaced. Not only did she threaten to take advantage of her customers' ignorance, but also, to Gray's anger, she displayed a poorly veiled contempt for him and amusement at his expense.

For once in his life Calvin Gray was at a loss, and knowledge of that fact caused him to chew savagely at his cigar. Engaged then, he became aware of a stranger who looked on at the pitiful comedy without comment. She was a pretty thing, Gray stared at her openly and his novel vanished. When she moved away, he was once in a daze, amazed himself, and followed her.

He was gratified at the manner in which she accepted his broadsheet apology for speaking to her.

"You can save the reason of a distracted man and add to the happiness of two poor, bewildered women, if you will," he concluded, earnestly. "I'm a damn straggler; it's tragic."

"What do you wish me to do?" the girl inquired.

"It's a bit to ask, I know, but won't you help them buy the things they need and save them from further humiliation at the hands of these highway clerks and low-down customers? I—I want to punish somebody in the way."

IF THE MOTHER'S APPEARANCE WAS UNUSUAL, THE DAUGHTER'S WAS STARTLING

Too late then; he had betrayed himself and he knew it.

"Bob" laughed again, a bit hysterically. "That's about all, dad. They agreed to put up the money and carry me—Ma, I mean—for a quarter interest. If I can get the lease from Kante Houghland, so, I'm leaving on the night train."

and in Allegheny's somber eyes he detected a look of unbridled hatred and defiance. "Good morning," he said, calmly, as he stepped forward. "I'm Kante Houghland, and I'm here to see you."

Allegheny's somber gaze had deepened. He had heard of Kante Houghland, the oil man, and he had heard of his daughter, Alice. ## MONTAGUE TALKS TO RETAIL MEN

ROANOKE, Va., May 16.—An address by Congressman A. J. Montague of Richmond on questions of national and international importance to the United States featured the first day's session of the Retail Merchants Association of Virginia, which opened its eighteenth annual convention here today.

The morning and afternoon sessions were taken up with the appointments of committees and discussions on the subjects of "the desirability of and plans for the formation of trade groups, and the establishment of the following bureaus: Advertising bureau, credit bureau, comptrollers bureau, traffic bureau, and statistical bureau. This discussion was led by Lewis Kaufmann, of Richmond.

In course of his remarks to the members of the association following the banquet at Lakeside Inn to-night Congressman Montague declared that the handling of foreign affairs should be lifted from the control of parties and politics and the American people should deal with foreign nations as a people and as a unit. He indicated that he was a firm believer in the doctrine of self-determination in the League of Nations and said that he was glad that the president of the United States is promoting some kind of a court which will in some way tend to clear up the foreign situation and establish better trade relations among the nations of the earth.

The speaker told why America had not recognized Russia as a nation and pointed out the many charitable acts done by this nation for that country in order to help her to establish a firm government that she might be recognized by the world. He said Congress voted twenty million dollars for the starving and in addition the United States had sent its Red Cross bureau and some of its best brains over there to assist in feeding the starving thousands.

NO CHANGE IN MEASURE WISE

WASHINGTON, May 16.—A resolution declaring it unwise to ask Congress to make any changes in the present rehabilitation act was adopted unanimously at the concluding session today of the conference of civilian rehabilitation officials representing various states, social workers and government officials called by the board for vocational education.

A resolution requested that Congress appropriate $1,000,000 annually for expenditure in co-operation with the states and $75,000 a year for administrative expenses of the federal board. It was recommended that no state taking part in the dual work receive less than $5,000 a year.

The resolution also expressed the opinion of the delegates that the value of vocational rehabilitation had been shown to be more far-reaching than anticipated and it congratulated

ROSCOE HUGHES WAS RE-ELECTED

RICHMOND, Va., May 16.—Roscoe E. Hughes, of Portsmouth, was re-elected Grand Sachem of the Virginia Order of Improved Red Men at its annual meeting here today. He was also made Great Prophet of the order. Dr. G. W. Robinson, of Danville, was elected senior great sage.

Tonight the Red Men were the guests of Annawon Lodge at a reunion, while members of the Degree of Pocahontas, the women's organization, were tendered a banquet in Columbo Hall.

Representative J. M. Hooker, of Patrick county, was in the city yesterday greeting friends while passing through.

BERLIN WOULD TAX THE USE OF FOREIGN WORDS

BERLIN, May 16.—Casting about for things to tax, Berlin's depleted exchequer may be replenished—the Argus eyes of the municipal receiver have fallen upon a host of shop signs which have sprung up along the streets since pre-war days. It is not the signs themselves he wants to assess, nor their newness, but the foreign words used in them. Thus he thinks if any Berlin hostelry prefers to be known as a "hotel," instead of priding itself on being just a plain German "Gastwirt," it should pay for the privilege of offending good German eyes by its advertisement in this way in a foreign language. The same view prevails as to firms whose doors are crowned with "coiffeur," "modes," "restaurant," or the like. Even an enterprising chap from overseas who hung out the shingle, "American Dentist," would be hit. Particularly aggravat-been the tendency to label a "Fuent, Uhr Tea" as a "Five-o'Clock Tea," especially since such a machine is usually patterned largely by foreign designers anyway.

There is scarcely a menu in Berlin which does not list "ham and eggs" boldly without any attempt to give its German equivalent, but it is not yet known whether the watch-dog of the city treasury would also try to extend his proposed tax to menus—or even to the word "menu" itself.

The tax has not yet reached more than the talking and investigating stage. Its adoption is considered likely, however, for sentiment in favor of such a step has increased greatly since a similar measure was adopted at Milan, Italy.

WILD ANIMALS ARE RECEIVED IN TENDER WAY

SARSTEDT, Prussia, May 16.—Sarstedt is too small a town to boast a zoo of its own, and yet there is a continually changing collection here of wild animals found to and from all parts of the world. The explanation lies in the fact that this is the site of one of Germany's leading veterinary clinics.

The actual clearing-house for German importers and exporters of wild beasts is at Alfeld, not far away. Animals assembled from virtually every section of the globe are given an opportunity there to rest up after their voyage before being sent on to the United States and other far-away destinations. Some of the travelers contract ailments or diseases through a change of climate or otherwise, and the Sarstedt "hospital" is called upon to treat them.

Gas has been adopted as a means of dealing with various types of skin diseases. It is administered in chambers, but naturally in such a way that the sick animal's head is not exposed to the fumes.

Sixteen large camels were brought here recently because their hair was falling out as a result of the long trip to Alfeld from their native haunts in Egypt. Twice a week these huge, bulky patients have to stand for an hour in individual box-like gas chambers with only their heads and necks protruding. The long necks are bandaged in collars from top to bottom, with felt plugging up all apertures through which gas might leave the chambers. It is a comical sight, this row of sixteen huts, each with a solemn, blinking head sticking out in front of it and a looking very much like a sore-throat victim. To complete the cure takes about 30 days.

LITTLE CHANGE IN PRICE LEVEL

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Little change in the general level of wholesale prices in April over March was reported in a summary issued today by the Labor Department.

Building materials and metals continued upward, with an increase of more than 3 per cent. Clothes and clothing went up 2 per cent. while house furnishings increased 1 per cent. Foods, chemicals, and drugs showed small increases.

Farm products, however, dropped 1 1/2 per cent. fuel and lighting materials three per cent. and miscellaneous commodities 3 1/4 of one per cent.

MICHIGAN OPPOSED TO INTERCOLLEGIATE SPORTS

ANN ARBOR, Mich., May 16.—Intercollegiate athletic contests find small favor with Fielding H. Yost, director of athletics at Michigan. Replying to recent criticism of Michigan's withdrawal from the Eastern Collegiate A. A. and the Eastern Intercollegiate track and field meet in New York May 25 and 26, Yost gave two reasons why he opposes intercollegiate competition for the Maize and Blue.

Michigan's natural athletic opponents, he declared, are in the Middle West, particularly in the Western Conference, and he believes the "well-worn" relations should be maintained largely to these opponents. He cited proximity and mutual regard as the basis for this opinion.

Declaring that athletics are and always should be but a contributory factor to the main purpose of college work; that of educating and fitting youths for their life's work, Yost pointed out that Michigan's regular schedule will take members of the track squad away from classes as much as he considers safe and consistent.

"The whole matter," Yost declared, "resolves itself, as before, to the natural and most feasible selection of opponents. We know each other in the Middle West and we can readily reach each other. There is mutual regard among us. Perhaps in the east we would be strangers."

MERCHANTS CAUTION ABOUT THEIR ORDERS

NEW ORLEANS, May 16.—The backwardness of planting in the South and the recent decline in the cotton values are keeping merchants cautious in placing orders for future delivery. Planting in Louisiana of all crops was only 67 per cent. of normal on May 1, and 58 per cent. of normal in Mississippi compared with a ten year average of 71 per cent.

Unfavorable weather is preventing farm hands from being put to work, and country merchants are feeling the effect. There is no sign of a let up in building construction in this section of the South.

DEMPEY CHOOSES QUARTERS

(By The Associated Press.)
GREAT FALLS, Mont., May 16.—Jack Dempsey today selected training quarters in which to prepare for his battle with Tom Gibbons July 4, at Shelby for the heavyweight championship. Dempsey chose the Great Falls Park, one and a half miles south of the city.

DEMPEY PICKS OLD ROAD HOUSE AS HIS NEW TRAINING QUARTERS

(Special to The Bee.)

GREAT FALLS, Mont., May 17.—An abandoned road house, located two miles from this city and known as Great Falls was today selected by Jack Dempsey for training quarters, where he will prepare himself to defend the world's heavyweight title against Tommy Gibbons at Shelby, Mont., July 4. The old house was raised by officers so many times in 1921 that it was finally closed up and has been idle for two years.

On the property is a dance pavilion where a ring and spectators' gallery will be built. Adjoining is a 15-room residence which the champion will use for living quarters.

A crew of men began work this morning getting the park in shape for the champion but Dempsey said he would probably not do much in the way of training other than road work. The titleholder said today that Billy Meehan and Joe Benjamin of California, George Godfrey, colored boxer, and a Pittsburgh heavy named Burks were on the way to join him as sparring partners.

This afternoon Dempsey visited Meadow Lark Country Club, maintained by an exclusive Great Falls clique where he was the guest of Russell S. Train, Montana, millionaire. The champion contented himself with playing a few holes on the golf course where a big gallery followed him about. Later Jack took a motor ride and visited the training camp, instructing workmen who began building the ring in which he will train.

Dempsey says he weighed 190 pounds, although he looks heavier.

"I will enter the ring July 4th weighing between 180 and 185," he said. "That will be from five to ten pounds heavier than Gibbons. I imagine I wish to correct any report that I am not going to train seriously for Tom. That is false. Just look over my sparring partners and plans for my training camp and you will see that I am going to be in as good or better shape, if possible, than when I met Carpenter."

X-RAY BEAMS ARE DISCUSSED

(Copyright, 1923, by Chicago Tribune.)

PARIS, May 16.—How far X-rays tend and whether the powerful light beams continue indefinitely, injuring and harming persons in their path at a considerable distance away, is a question which was taken up today by the ministry of hygiene for investigation.

Dr. Declaire, of the Academy of Medicine, is presiding over committee of members which includes Madame Curie, M. Bequerel, a radiologist, Dr. Vaillant and a number of specialists.

The investigation is the result of complaints of persons living nearby to clinics where X-rays are in operation several hours daily.

Suits were started against a doctor by neighbors who alleged that their health had been impaired. Two cases of cancer were alleged to be due to X-rays penetrating through the patients and the walls of the clinic, traversing a street and passing through another wall. It was stated that the rays attacked a soldier's wife.

It was estimated that stocks of yarn in the hands of mills and merchants in Shanghai ran to 100,000 bales.

MANNING STRONG AT TENNIS MEET

(By The Associated Press.)

RICHMOND, Va., May 16.—V. M. Manning, of Greensboro, S. C., regarded as the most likely contender for the Old Dominion single tennis championship, won his way to the fifth round of play by defeating O. C. Shaner, of Lynchburg, 6-1, 6-0, today at the Country Club of Virginia. Manning lost in the mixed doubles, however, when paired with Miss Frazier, he met defeat at the hands of Miller and Miss Sinclair, 6-8, 6-3, 6-2.

C. M. Charest, of Baltimore, the Old Dominion champion, did not play his fourth round in the singles today. Entering the tournament yesterday, Charest easily defeated his first three opponents. He played on paired with Johnson, of Washington, and won the match with J. W. and J. M. Middendorf, 6-1, 6-1, 6-1.

J. G. Graves, of Washington, who won his fourth round today, 6-2, 11-9, will oppose Manning in the semi-finals in the men's singles tomorrow afternoon.

The finals will be played Saturday.

WHIPPING BOSS BE TRIED TODAY

CROSS CITY, Fla., May 16.—Walter Higginbotham, convict camp whipping boss, indicted for first-degree murder in connection with the death of Martin Tabert, North Dakota youth in February, 1922, will face trial here tomorrow in Dixie County Superior Court. Arguments on motion by the state for a charge of venue are expected to take up the greater part of the first day's proceedings.

If the venue motion is overruled, counsel for both sides announced today they would be ready to go ahead with the trial, which will be held in the Baptist Church, the county having no court house.

DETROIT CLUB ALWAYS ROASTS STARS SHORTSTOPS

(By The Associated Press.)

DETROIT, May 16.—Some major league clubs are exceedingly fortunate in developing stars for certain positions. Take the position of shortstop on the Detroit club for instance.

In the early days of Hugh Jennings' success at Detroit, Charley O'Leary was one of the most valuable players in the league. Always a great fielder, a fair hitter, dangerous in the pinch, O'Leary helped put Detroit on the map in a baseball sense.

Then came Donie Bush, just as O'Leary was passing out. For years Bush ranked as one of the most brilliant players in either major league at shortstop.

When Bush passed out of the picture, Topper Rigney entered. Cobb predicted great things for Rigney and he has more than made good. After one year in the majors he is regarded as a worth while regular, just on the verge of stardom.

As an understudy to Rigney, the spring training trip has uncovered a youngster by the name of Kerr. Right now he looks as good, if not better, than did Rigney a year ago.

EARLY PEACHES BELOW NORMAL

(By The Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The crop of early peaches will be considerably below that of last year, according to reports to the Department of Agriculture from peach growing sections of the South, but will be larger than anticipated when frosts occurred last month.

In North Carolina, the report said, a commercial crop of about 500 cars is expected which will be about 27 per cent. of last year's crop and about 25 per cent. of a full crop. The loss in the sand hills will not be nearly as large as had been expected.

Patriots Easily Beat High Point

HIGH POINT, May 16.—Greensboro gained a commanding lead in the second inning with their five runs and High Point was unable to overcome it, and the visitors won by the score of 7-1. The pitching of O'Quinn was the only notable feature of the game. He allowed but four hits but these were bunched and the locals scored three runs. Two of these came in the second when McCullough hit for the circuit with one on.

THEY'RE AFTER BRITISH OPEN GOLF TITLE

JOHNNY FARRELL

"Long Jim" Barnes, the Peabody golf star, has finished in the money in three of his invasions abroad, and hopes to annex the British open title this season. With Farrell and Diegel, this trio of golfers will complete a team which will be stronger than the one competing in the Open Championship at St. Andrews two years ago.

BASEBALL DAYS OVER, MAYS MAY TAKE UP BOXING

NEW YORK, May 16.—Carl Mays, Yankee pitcher, is seriously thinking of turning fighter.

Mays recently saw Floyd Johnson and Fred Fulton clash. Mays has an idea that a year of training and instruction would enable him to defeat either of them.

However, that doesn't mean much, as Fulton never was and Johnson is still to be.

As a pitcher Mays always was a glutton for punishment, so that trait may prove a worthwhile asset if he decides to turn fighter.

Mays seems to feel that his pitching days as a major league star are about over and he wants to become proficient in some branch of the sporting game that brings big returns.

The ring seems to offer the best inducements.

SUNDAY SCHOOL HAVE BAD START OF SEASON

The Sunday school baseball league for the opening of the season had a bad start yesterday afternoon when the team of the First Baptist church, from the Presbyterian team by the score of 5 to 0. In fact the game was forfeited because the Presbyterian team failed to put nine players on the field at the starting of the game.

Later the Presbyterians, however, managed to secure enough boys to make out the nine, and a practice game was played.

This afternoon the Cabell street team will play the fast Shelton Memorial boys. Both of these teams have a good line up and an interesting game is looked for. As a large crowd of rooters will be on hand much interest is expected.

LEWIS WINS WITHOUT USING HEAD LACK

CHICAGO, May 16.—Without the use of his celebrated headlock, Ed "Strangler" Lewis, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, successfully defended his title against Renato Gardini, the Italian, in the main event of the mat show at the Coliseum tonight. The champion won the last two falls by use of the two locks, while Gardini took the first fall with a double wrist lock, and leg hold.

Rutgers Adopts Freshman Rule

BY LAWRENCE PERRY
(Copyright, 1923, by The Bee)

NEW YORK, May 16.—Rutgers has adopted the freshman rule. It will go into effect with the opening season in September 1924. This marks not only a distinct forward step for the action of the entire cause of college athletics will be the gain.

Rutgers is classified among the institutions which have been quick to adopt the virtues of the one year residence rule but have not held it as applicable to themselves because of their comparatively small size.

As a matter of fact there are institutions of small enrollment where it would be almost impossible to organize teams of any proficiency whatever in any sport were it drafted upon the freshmen. But there are other institutions ranging from five to nine hundred population which have no excuse for withholding from a rule whose salutary workings have long been recognized.

College is in this class and the fact that she has had the moral hazard in the face of the certainty that it will affect in greater or less degree the athletic success of the college has been a factor in her hesitancy to adopt the rule. In recent years, speaks well for the loftiness of those who have promulgated it.

JAILS OPENED FOR DELINQUENT PAYERS OF TAXES

LONDON, May 16.—What happened to the people of England who do not pay their income tax, has been told by an official of the Inland Revenue, who declares there are about 1,000 such delinquents now in jail, compared with 1,192 two years ago. Plenty of time is given by the authorities for payment, said this official, and in cases where it can be shown that funds are not available, easy methods are devised. In other cases, after a certain interval, a notice is sent to the defaulter that the tax must be remitted by a certain date—usually ten days time. If that is disregarded a more urgent notice is sent, and three days grace given. After that a distress warrant against the defaulter's goods is obtained. Those who are imprisoned for default are generally single, or have no self-sufficient property of their own.

CHINESE TROOPS CLASH
(By The Associated Press)

Gibson Has One Bad Inning And Danville Loses

DURHAM, May 16.—In one bad inning Gibson lost the game for Danville by allowing the Durham Bulls to bat around and score five runs, after which he held them scoreless the rest of the way, the game finally ending 6 to 4 favoring the locals. Leaving out the fifth inning Gibson pitched a creditable game but the locals got on to his twisters in that frame and a series of hitting and bunting confused him so that he blew it. The Danvillians received as many hits as the locals but they were unable to bunch them to their advantage. Danville players contested many decisions of the umpires today. First baseman Smith was put out of the game near the close for vigorously protesting a decision. Dorman also came very near being sent off the field for disputing a decision.

After pitching good ball for four innings, Gibson allowed the plate to bat around and when the smoke had cleared away five runs had been registered. Four bingles, a couple walks, and a lot of bunting is described as the way it all happened. This included Danville's homer with one on.

The Virginians scored one in the first inning. Dorman was hit by a pitched ball, was sacrificed to second by Allison and crossed the plate on Smith's single. They went scoreless until the seventh when another tally was added. Jesmer, Heckle and Lowe singled in succession and Jesmer counted.

Another was added in the eighth hit for two bases, went to third on Allison's infield out and scored on Harris single.

The visitors still had fighting blood and made another desperate effort in the final frame which netted them only one more run, a total of four. With two out Gibson singled. Dorman secured his third hit of the game, which went for two bases and Gibson crossed the rubber.

MAK REUSES TO TAKE SERIOUSLY MOORE REPORTS

PHILADELPHIA, May 16.—Connie Mack doesn't take seriously the reports that Fred Carisch, the veteran catcher, who is assisting Manager Cobb at Detroit, has made over Pitcher Roy Moore's camp gossip had it that Carisch had changed Moore's stride, thereby making his delivery smooth and easy, rather than short and kinky. This, according to Carisch, was Moore's great fault, too short a stride, resulting in lack of control.

Moore is a southpaw with a world of stuff, who has failed to arrive simply because of lack of control. "I certainly hope Roy makes good for Cobb," says Mack. "He is a fine boy and has the stuff. If anything is lacking in Roy it is ambition. He does not have to play ball for a livelihood, which causes him to take the game too lightly. Win or lose, it's all the same with Roy."

"Realizing Moore's great possibilities, I tried everything possible with him. In fact, did everything but try to make him pitch right-handed. If Carisch has enabled him to get control, he had already earned his season's salary."

LOS ANGELES COUNTY FOREST FIRES COSTLY

LOS ANGELES, May 16.—Forest fires in Los Angeles during the last year have cost the county $250,000, according to officials of the Commerce Department of Safety.

Standard Oil of N. J. in 1922 showed $1.61 a share on $25 par against $3.97 on old stock in 1921.

At the time I won the championship from Attell at Vernon, Calif., Newton D. Baker, secretary of war under President Wilson, was mayor of Cleveland.

He has proved one of my best friends, through his kindly advice. The crowd that was at the station to meet me was tremendous. Newspaper men and photographers started to get on the train at Toledo and Sandusky.

The crowd fairly swept me from my feet. No visitor to Cleveland ever received the ovation that my fellow townsmen gave me. I have never forgotten it, and never will. My wife and I reached an auto, and were whisked home. Soon afterward I received a call from Mayor Baker, asking me to come to see him. This I did, and he gave me some advice I have followed carefully ever since.

"DON'T GET SWELLHEAD"
"Now, Johnny," he said to me, "you're a champion now, and everybody will be coming to you. Don't get a swellhead, whatever you do. Keep your level head."

I paused here in my writing, to ask a question of the reader. How many men, as high up as Mayor Baker was then, would stop to do what he did? The town was painted a rich green for its Irish champ. I appeared a week at Keith's theater and the outside was decorated in Erin's color. It so happened John McCormack, who kept the colors as fully appropriate for him, I was so nervous I couldn't punch the bag on my first appearance.

The whole city seemed to welcome me. I don't say I was in any spirit of conceit. It was Johnny this, and Johnny that. I confess I liked it. It was something new. But the realization that I was the champ never has dawned on me. I was in the sense that the very act of becoming a champ anywhere in the world.

GENERALS HAVE VICTORIOUS TRIP

LEXINGTON, Va., May 16.—The Washington and Lee baseball team returned this week from a victorious northern invasion successful in that they won four out of five games yet showing varying extremes of form. The terrific slugging of the fighting Generals featured every game for in the five played they piled out 74 hits and 54 runs to their opponents 16 tallies, ten of the latter coming in the Rutgers game. Johns Hopkins, the Navy, Delaware, and City College of New York were the victims while Rutgers took a 10 to 9 batting bee from the Southerners. They were rained out in the Maryland game.

The Generals believe that they have established a record in the Johns Hopkins game in that they scored 24 runs in their own behalf while holding the Blue and Black hitless and scoreless. On the other hand IV, and I, lost to what was supposed to be the weakest of their opponents when they dropped the game to Rutgers, making six errors and the Scarlet team, considered as the least dangerous of their opponents in point of game, won.

Captain "Student" Frow continued to lead in the hitting for the Generals by slugging out 13 hits in his 25 times at bat. Deason was second with 11 hits out of 28 times at the plate. The team commented especially on the splendid hospitality of the schools visited and the treatment accorded by their opponents and supporters.

TENTATIVE ARRANGEMENTS.

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 16.—Tentative arrangements for the movement of American owned goods out of occupied Germany, agreed to by French and German representatives and American diplomatic agents in those countries, were announced today by the State Department. While the procedure was said to be "not as simple as desired," it was predicted that it would afford relief to American trade.

Eleven Years A Champion

No one ever received a greater reception than Johnny Kilbane when he returned to his home city, Cleveland, on March 17, a Sunday, back in 1912. This photo was made that day as he greeted the great crowd from the steps of the train.

tomatically lifts a man completely apart from the rest of the field and makes him a separate world unto himself. In these days crowds, in a way, frightened me, both when I was in or out of the ring, especially in. I didn't understand them. I was later to learn that they always root eventually, in the course of a fight, for the underdog, the one fighting what seems to be against odds. But here, too, we meet the same condition that exists elsewhere in the world.

KIRKWOOD SHOWS SPLENDID FORM

(By The Associated Press)
LEEDS, England, May 16.—Joe Kirkwood gave a magnificent performance today in the qualifying round for the professional golf tournament. He made a new record for the Headly Course by turning in a score of 67, which made his total 133 for the 36 holes, the first 18 of which were played Tuesday.

Kirkwood, the favorite, is leading the 22 professional who have qualified for the competition which begins tomorrow. Walter Hagen, with 147 and Gene Sarazen with 151 also have qualified but Charles Hoffman's 158 was three strokes too many to let him in for the play. The sensation of today was the first failure of Ted Ray in 25 years to survive the qualifying round. The Frenchman, Arnaude Massey, also failed to get in.

CONDITIONS CRITICIZED

(By The Associated Press)
ROME, May 16.—From his retreat at Aquafredda, former Premier Nitti has issued a statement again criticizing existing European conditions. He declares the situation is full of danger and argues that Europe will never have peace while France continues her present policy of violence against Germany.

GAME AT RALEIGH POSTPONED ON ACCOUNT OF WET GROUNDS

RALEIGH, May 16.—The grounds were too wet for a game here today and the contest scheduled between the Twins and Capitals was postponed. Weather permitting the two teams will play tomorrow, probably a double header.

BOSTON 7; ST. LOUIS 6

(By The Associated Press)
BOSTON, May 16.—Southworth's home run as first man up in the last of the fourteenth enabled Boston to defeat St. Louis 7 to 6 today. In the thirteenth his diving catch of Bottomley's drive resulted in a double play. Boston had the bases full with none out in the seventh when Eockel's drive was speared by Freigau, who threw to Bottomley, doubling Southworth Bottomley then threw to Stock at third, before Cruise, running. Pillingin could return, thus completing a triple play. Score: R. H. E.

WILL PILLETTE REPEAT SUCCESS OF LAST YEAR?

NEW YORK, May 16.—"Pillette won't be as effective next season." That is what American League ball players kept saying during the early part of last year, while the Detroit recruit was going great. During the last two months of the 1922 campaign, Pillette was just an ordinary pitcher. The deception that he possessed early in the year had vanished.

Others more kindly disposed insisted that Pillette was all in as the result of too much work. At one stage of the race he was the only Tiger pitcher that could win and Cobb called on him often. Pillette's best ball is his fast one that breaks down and out. The ball is only effective who kept low. It waited out it is invariably a ball. Opposing players wise to the fact late in the season forced Pillette to keep the ball up, which worked to his disadvantage.

In the spring games in the South Pillette has been hit hard in practically every start.

Wonder if the dope of the American League players that Pillette would not be nearly as effective this year is going to come true?

Kinks-o' the Links

Does the election of a professional player to membership in a club in any way affect the amateur status of the other members?

Such an act is permissible, and in no way affects the amateur status of the other members.

If there is a question as to whether or not a ball has gone out of bounds what is the proper procedure to follow?

When there is a doubt as to whether the ball was driven out of bounds, it is customary to hunt for it for five minutes in an effort to recover same before assuming that it is out of bounds.

No, This Is Not Mlle. Lenglen!

Miss Evelyn Beckingham put every ounce of energy into this swing during the play for the singles championship of North London. Notice that the entire body, from toe to clenched fist, was under tension as the racket met the ball. The picture is quite reminiscent of those showing Suzanne Lenglen, world's champion, in action.

Next comes the Surveyor

ONE of the great difficulties of oil production lies in the fact that the discovery of oil immediately lifts property values in the neighborhood to exorbitant levels. Hence the pioneer producer is permitted to use up his energy and capital to his heart's content as long as he meets only dry wells and no oil. But let success crown his efforts and complications follow quickly involving the title and taxes of his land.

It is a long way from oil well to gasoline filling station, but the Standard Oil Company (N. J.), by combining the services of transporting, refining and marketing, has made Polarine and "Standard" Motor Gasoline as universally available as bread or tobacco. The steady progress of these petroleum products over a period of years is the best possible evidence of customer-satisfaction.

EXCURSION TRIPS

CHICAGO, May 18.—The opening of the excursion season between the east and the west has filled the east-bound trains and necessitated the running of extra sections. Traffic on west-bound trains as yet have been but little affected by the reduction in fares. This is thought to be due largely to unusual weather conditions and J. L. Ferguson, General Passenger agent of the Chicago and Northwestern road, today predicted that west-bound travel would be exceedingly heavy later. His road is preparing to reduce the Denver Special to its schedule May 27, to care for the expected heavy travel to Colorado.

Railroads are buying heavily of sized coal in this market with the intention of storing it. This has caused screenings to slump in the southern Illinois fields.

NO INTERRUPTION IN

BRIDGE CONSTRUCTION

PHILADELPHIA, May 16.—There will be no interruption from financial reasons in construction of the new Delaware River bridge here for the next year. Pennsylvania has appropriated $4,427,000, this city will contribute a similar amount. New Jersey also has made an appropriation for its share of the work for the current year. This assures steady employment for a long period.

New Consistory To Be Held In May

BY V. DE SANTO

(Copyright 1923, Chicago Tribune.)

ROME, May 17.—(Radio)—A new consistory, it has been announced, will be held from May 23 to 25.

It is stated that two new cardinals will be created and that both will be Italian. Reports that Pope Pius intended to make one or two American cardinals do not seem to have materialized.

Rumors in Vatican circles say that the Pope is anxious to give America more cardinals but that he is unable to decide whom to raise to that position. It is stated that some of the Pope's inability to make choices is due to opposition in America to certain archbishops. An example given is Archbishop Mindelen of Chicago, who it is stated, is opposed by many Chicago Catholics on the ground that he was pro-German during the war.

Archbishop Hayes of New York is opposed by many influential New York Catholics who consider him to be an agent for Irish propaganda. These reports, I am reliably informed, reached the Pope and prevented his making decisions.

ONE MAN KILLED IN TRAIN CRASH

(By The Associated Press)

LIMA, O., May 15.—One man was killed and possibly a score of persons injured at Oakland, Ohio, half way between Coldwater and Fort Recovery, when Lake Erie and Western passenger train number two collided with a freight train this afternoon. The dead man is George J. Bassler, 61 of Lima, engineer on the passenger train.

Misunderstanding of orders led to the collision, it is reported. A freight train was sent to the scene from Lima and is bringing the passengers to this city.

Railroad officials said they had no definite information regarding the injured.

288-069
MARYLAND 1923

Yesterday's answer:

The diagram shows the number of the Maryland automobiles licensed by the three men. As one man saw the figures 06, followed by another figure, the 06 must have come immediately after the hyphen, as the license number could not have begun with a 0. Another man saw two eights together; hence the two eights must have come just in front of the hyphen, for the number could not have begun with an 8, as 80,000 is too large a number for a Maryland license. The other two figures were 2 and 9. As 9 is too large a figure to begin the license with, the 2 must have been the first figure, and the 9 the last.

SIR JOSEPH SUEDE BY ART EXPERT

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 16.—George Joseph De Mott, art expert of New York and Paris, today sued Sir Joseph Duveen, head of the Duveen Art Galleries for $800,000, alleging Sir Joseph had damaged him by characterizing as spurious an eleventh century Champagne enamel, a picture of Virgin and Child which he said Michael Drecker of this city in 1921 for 350,000 francs.

Mr. De Mott asked $100,000 for each of five alleged slanderous statements concerning the figure. Today's suit was the second of $300,000 brought against Sir Joseph as a result of his oral criticisms of art works. The first, started last year, was based on his statement that a "Leonardo Da Vinci" now in America, was a spurious copy of a European original that fell far short of the master's color tones.

JENNINGS IN VIRGINIA WHILE BEING SOUGHT

Dennis Jennings lived quietly in a house on Eighth street, Richmond, until four months ago when he moved to Detroit though the police authorities of Virginia, North and South Carolina and federal authorities were looking for him. Harper Chandler who took W. M. Snead to Richmond Tuesday returned today and said that while they were in a taxicab going to the hotel, the defendant Snead pointed out the house where Jennings lived, adding that he had frequently visited him there. The formalities in Richmond did not last long and Harper understood before leaving that Snead would be assigned to clerical work in the institution. The Danville man's iron nerve did not forsake him and he is reported to have accepted his situation philosophically.

EIGHT PERSONS FOUND GUILTY

(By The Associated Press)

OMAHA, Neb., May 16.—Eight persons were found guilty of use and conspiracy to use the mails to defraud, four were convicted on charges of conspiracy and one was acquitted today by a federal court jury which tried thirteen defendants indicted in connection with promotion of the Colonial Timber and Coal Corporation. Announcement was made that all the defendants will appeal.

In connection with organization of the Colonial Corporation, the government charged that no valid title was held to 799,000 acres of West Virginia coal and timber land, whereas the organizers, the prosecution contended, claimed title was held in fee simple.

Two million dollars worth of bonds were issued against part of the land and part of these were marketed, the government contended, when the organizers knew that the title to the land was not valid.

Twenty-five persons were indicted, but the cases of some of them were dismissed, two are fugitives and some were not tried.

SUITS FILED AGAINST NEW YORK COFFEE EXCHANGE

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 16.—Suits for $666,611 against the New York coffee and sugar exchange firm of Lam-born and Company was filed in Supreme Court late today by John H. Rappey, who alleged the defendant had failed to live up to an agreement concerning dealings in sugar for future delivery.

Rappey alleged the firm had failed to carry out his instructions for selling and buying. As a result, he declared, he failed to obtain the profit of $666,611, he otherwise would have received.

LEASE IS UNCERTAIN.

(By The Associated Press)

J. J. Campion, vice-president of the Carolina, Clinchfield and Ohio railroad, who returned here today from a trip east, declined to say whether the Clinchfield directors had agreed to lease the line to the Atlantic Coast Line railroad. Mr. Campion said he had read accounts of the Coast Line directors' decision to lease the Clinchfield, but that he had no statement to make now.

Nearly six thousand women and girls will observe the birthday of Grace Dodge, deceased, on Monday, May 21. The Danville Y. W. C. A. will observe Sunday in memory of Miss Dodge, to whose Christian leadership the whole association owes so much. A service of unusual interest has been planned by the religious works committee of the Y. W. C. A. and cards have been sent to the entire membership inviting every member of the "Dodge" society to participate in the service. The Episcopal church will be the speaker and his theme will be "A Life of Service." The Episcopal choir will sing. Basil Browder will be the soloist, accompanied by Miss Margaret Bowles, L. O. ## Ex-Soldiers Are Mussolini's Opportunity For Big Fascisti

By William Philip Simms

NEA Service Writer.

ROME, May 17.—Call him a Syngall, a hypocrite, an egotist, a dictator, what you will, but Benito Mussolini has saved Italy and he has saved King Victor Emmanuel III.

Some call this son of a blacksmith, now premier and dictator of Italy a Napoleon. Some call him a bluff. But today, after several months' trial none denies he has done a good job.

But for this bold "upstart," as his enemies call him, this man who once dug ditches in Lausanne, Switzerland, for a meal-ticket, Italy today would very probably be in Russia's clutches and Victor Emmanuel just another king in exile.

How Fascismo Started.

Briefly, here's the who, what and why of it.

After the war Italy started to go to pieces. Class hatreds sprang to life. Unemployment became a menace. Prices were high and money was scarce. Bolshevism menaced the country and a communist revolution seemed impending. Disorder was everywhere.

The Italian government seemed powerless. It did nothing every little to set things to rights. There was an enormous deficit in the budget with which the cabinet seemed unable to cope.

From the Italian point of view the government's foreign policy was a failure. Stagnation at home and abroad. The country seemed slowly drifting to its doom.

Demoralized Army Rallied.

About this time, in Milan, the blacksmith's son, Mussolini—now by sheer hard work and self-education the editor of a small newspaper called the "Popolo d'Italia," founded the first "Fascist."

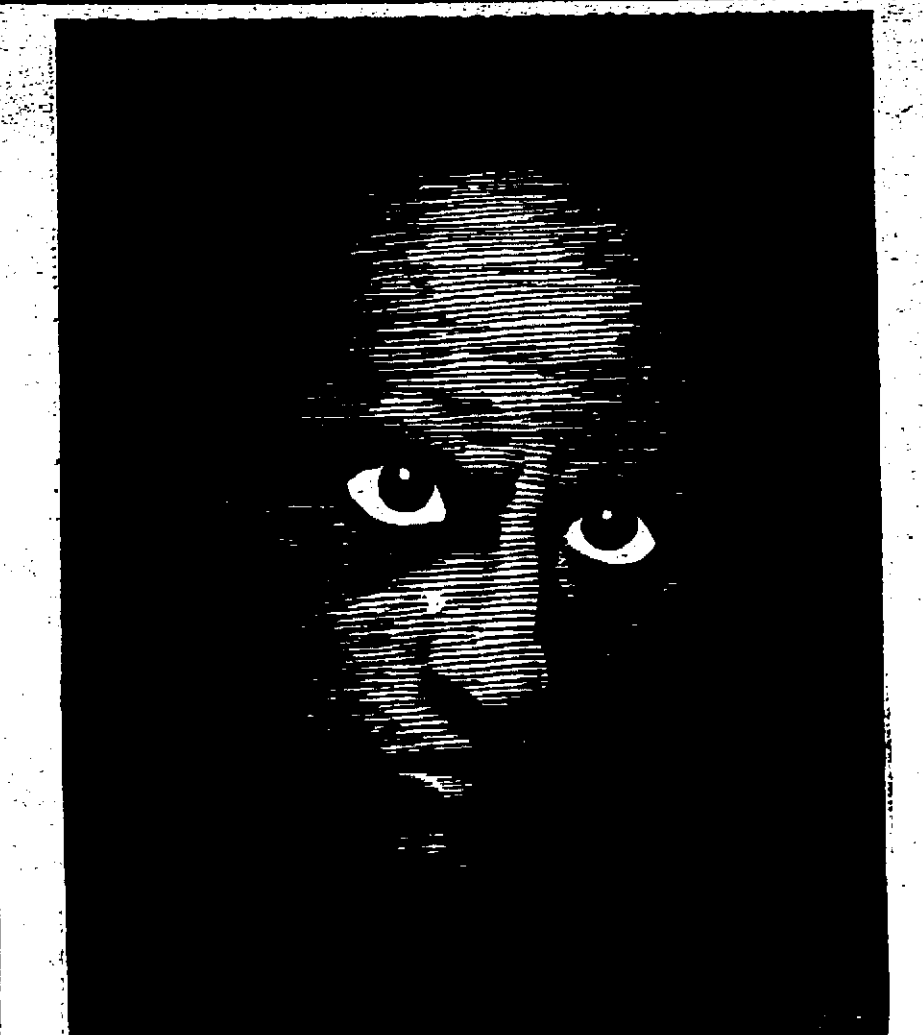

These Fascist spread all over the country, largely made up of ex-officers and demobilized soldiers. Hundreds of thousands of men were soon enrolled under the Fascist banner.

The big idea behind the movement was to fight the "negative," to combat the lethargy which had settled down over those who otherwise should have been leading the country, and at the same time to check the rise to power of the lawless element, daily growing bolder.

Now Mussolini, with "all the Fascist" at his back, called Rome to task. Rome quaked. Rome had not the slightest idea of the power of Mussolini's back and call—the power of hundreds of thousands of plain, but determined, citizens intent upon one thing, that neither a do-nothing, weakling government nor a bunch of communists and anarchists should ruin their beloved country.

Rui Mussolini Prepared.

But Mussolini was ready. His "Black Shirt" army had been thoroughly organized—infantry, cavalry, aviation, medical, ambulance and all, including even the women's corps—and only awaited a signal from "Il Duce."

BENITO MUSSOLINI.

Case-Man Statesman

You may not like the way he saved Italy. He literally kicked her back to life. He used cave-man methods. Like a strong swimmer rescuing a drowning maiden, he swatted Italy a lusty blow between the eyes, but he got her ashore alive and otherwise well. And like any rescued maiden ought, Italy once she got her senses back, threw her arms about the neck of her rescuer and now loves him to death. As far as I am able to judge he can hit her between the eyes the again as much as he likes.

And, if necessary Mussolini will do that very thing.

"The Fascist state is a state of force," was the way it was described to me by a Fascist leader. And Mussolini himself told me he has absolutely no fear of Italy backsliding. His chief reason being the 160,000 "Black Shirt" troops ready at his beck and call.

Dangerous? Maybe. But it has worked to Italy's good thus far. Figure the future as you will.

Block Condemns Anti-Tobacconist

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 16.—Calling for a vigilante guard against the systematic anti-tobacco propaganda circulated by self-styled reformers, Jesse A. Bloch, of Wheeling, W. Va., president of the Tobacco Merchants Association of the United States, made the opening address at the two-day session of the Association which began at the Willard Hotel here this morning.

Speaking of the anti-tobacco agitation in various states, Mr. Bloch drew great applause from the audience, which numbered 400, when he declared that the agitators everywhere were being repulsed, and that four of the six states which had enacted anti-tobacco legislation years ago have rescinded these laws.

"The passage of the Eighteenth Amendment," said Mr. Bloch, "seems to have left many of the professional anti without a mission, with the result that they lost no time in switching their activities not only to tobacco, but to tea and coffee, as well as to many harmless and wholesome amusements enjoyed by our citizenry. Intensive drives against all forms of tobacco have been inaugurated in all parts of the country, with the avowed object of buying tobacco and abuse has been launched against tobacco in all its forms.

"Every attack upon tobacco brings forth an additional flood of scientific authority testifying to the harmlessness of tobacco. But while our victory in the recent anti-tobacco war has been almost complete, the menace has not yet passed, and it is not likely to pass so long as the professional agitators are able to pass their hats and collect the coin. We must therefore remain on guard and hold ourselves constantly in readiness to repel renewed attacks if any shall be made."

The Tobacco Merchants convention, which is attended by tobacco men from every state in the union, representing enterprises and investments of nearly two billion dollars, including all the mammoth tobacco concerns, is giving lengthy consideration to several problems of the highest importance to the industry. High taxes and the steep level of prices were discussed this morning. It was stated that in the face of these conditions, manufacturers had found it impossible to make reductions in the prices of tobacco products, and have been able to maintain the present qualities and prices only by effecting strict economies.

The convention went on record as favoring price maintenance legislation, which has been pending in Congress for a number of years. President Bloch deplored the use of tobacco products as a bait to secure the sale of other commodities.

Before introducing Mr. Bloch, who had made the principal address of the morning session, Charles Dushkin, of New York, counsel and managing director of the Association, made an introductory speech outlining the work which the convention hopes to accomplish.

"The tobacco industry," said Mr. Dushkin, "may be taken as most accurate barometer of general business conditions throughout the country, and looking at the improved conditions in the tobacco industry, it seems certain that the whole country is enjoying an era of well balanced prosperity."
